

TIRE OF THE PARTY.

Many Paranelites Expect to Return to Their Former Love, as the Result of Cork's Election.

REDMOND'S PLURALITY OVER 1,500

Flavin Likely to Protest, Claiming That There Was a Great Deal of Clerical Interference.

GRIM RELICS FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Mr. Harrison, M. P. Threatens Tim Healy With Another Horsewhipping.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—[Copyright.]—The result of the Cork election has exactly confirmed the DISPATCH's forecasts. The Paranelites expect to have done better than they had professed, which shows that they can be thankful for small mercies. Their actual poll of Nationalists was less than 2,000, for quite 200 Tories voted for Redmond.

Last evening the Tories went about boasting that they had polled more than they did at the last contested election in 1885. It is shown to-day that their candidacies received 205 fewer votes than in 1885. They do not attempt to deny the fact that probably 250 of the vanished votes that were certainly polled were given to Redmond.

It is certain that the result of the election will convince many Paranelites of the error of their ways, and it is probable that some members of the Parliamentary minority will gladly make it an excuse for returning to their allegiance. No difficulties will be placed in their way, for it is the earnest desire of William O'Brien and his colleagues to win back by gentle means as many prodigals as possible for the general election, but to those who remain recalcitrant then no mercy will be shown.

The Door Yet Open for Many. It must be remembered that the majority of the minority have taken no part in the bitter strife which has been going on since Parnell died. They took the step which seemed to them to be the wisest in the interest of the country, and they held their door. These are the men for whom the door has been kept open, and to whom the interdict given by Cork should inescapably apply.

John Redmond is now in a ludicrous position. Had he been Cork he would have been formally selected leader of the irreconcilables. That was the price which he exacted before resigning his seat at Westford in order to lead the forlorn hope. But his ambition has overleaped itself. He has grasped the shadow and lost the substance. He will probably ask Westford to take him back, but he will be beaten again. The Nationalists there have already selected their candidate, and there is no reason to fear that Westford will go where Cork went right. John Redmond is destined to be a political "Wandering Jew" until the general election, and it is difficult to see where he will find a safe even then.

The Irish Tories are warning a friend of the Government that if the general election is delayed until next summer there is cause for the fear that Irish discussions will have been long and hot. Old-fashioned folk think and say that the Princesses would be better employed warming their hands by the fire, and pouring out his tea, and drinking his health, and saying "God bless you," and that sort of thing, especially as, in the course of nature, the occasion will not occur again.

A Pleasant Prospect for Liberals. The immediate electoral prospect is very pleasant for the Liberals. Two Tory constituencies, South Dorset and East Dorset, have become vacant, and the Liberals have cheerfully undertaken to win them both. In the former constituency the contest is proceeding boisterously, and the polling will take place next Friday. In East Dorset, where there is a Tory majority, the contest will be a close one, and it is not unlikely that the Liberal will be elected.

Mr. Harrison After Healy. He Promises Tim a Worse Thashing Than McDermott Gave Him.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—Mr. Harrison, M. P. is lying in wait for Tim Healy. He promises him such a thrashing that McDermott's attempt will pale into insignificance. The cause is the same, viz., the insults leveled upon the widow of Healy's son, so far as to couple Harrison's name offensively with hers, and for this Harrison says he shall suffer. Harrison is an Oxford athlete and Healy is a very hard fighter, so that the encounter will be worth witnessing. Rumor has it that Westminster will be the scene of the attempted chastisement. Healy has taken no steps legally to punish the insult, but he is not likely to let the matter pass. He is waiting for Harrison to make a move, and then he will strike. An Empress Threatened With Insanity. (BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—Courtiers look anxious, and are beginning to whisper scandal. The shadow which has rested on the Austrian throne ever since the suicide of the Crown Prince Rudolf grows deeper. The Empress has become a victim of chronic melancholia, and the specter of insanity hovers over her. She is said to be very ill, and has built for herself in a lonely corner of the Greek island of Corfu, and she obstinately refuses to return to Vienna. The Emperor Francis Joseph performs his daily work, and the leaders abroad and the so-called Socialists societies will find the candidates. The trick is a shabby one, and is not likely to be of much advantage to those who plot it.

Will Have Bogus Labor Candidates. Tory wire pullers in London, acting in conjunction with a knot of lazy loafers who pose as labor leaders, are making arrangements for running "bogus" candidates in over 100 constituencies where a serious split of the Liberal vote may give the Tories a chance of success. The funds will be provided from the Tory treasury, and the leaders abroad and the so-called Socialists societies will find the candidates. The trick is a shabby one, and is not likely to be of much advantage to those who plot it.

RELICS FOR THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Negotiations for Lord Shrewsbury's Celebrated Instruments of Torture.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—Mr. McCormack, the London Agent of the Chicago World's Fair, is negotiating for the loan or purchase of Lord Shrewsbury's famous collection of instruments of torture formerly kept in the royal castle at Nurnburg. The collection, which is now on view here, is of a blood-curdling character, calculated to astonish gentle American citizens. There are between 700 and 800 pieces—saws, tongue-teasers, thumb-screws, iron gloves compulsorily worn red hot, steel-barbed whips, strangling collars, spiked cradles, iron caps, an elegant array of executioner's swords, and a series of ancient prints illustrating executioners and methods of torture in the good old times. But the piece of resistance of the show is the original iron mallet, which is thus accurately and unctuously described in the catalogue. "It is made in the shape of a woman, a Madonna, before which the victim was compelled to kneel in prayer. It opens with two doors to admit the victim, and the inside is fitted with sharp iron spikes, so arranged that when the doors are pressed to these sharp prongs force their way into various portions of the victim's body. Two enter his eyes, others pierce his back, chest, and, in fact, impale him alive in such a manner that the fingers in the most agonizing torture. When death relieves the poor wretch from his agonies, perhaps after days, the trap door in the base is pulled open and his body allowed to fall into the moat, or river below."

MAMMOTH CO-OPERATIVE SCHEME.

The Largest Boot and Shoe Concern of That Kind in the World. (BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—A striking proof of the steady progress of the principle of co-operative production was given yesterday at Leicester, where over 500 delegates from all parts of the kingdom assembled to assist at the formal opening of the largest co-operative boot and shoe factory in the world. The factory stands on six acres of ground. The buildings cost £30,000, and when fitted with machinery the total output will have been £50,000. The working capital is £250,000, and the factory will be able to turn out 50,000 pairs of boots every week. This huge enterprise has been, and will continue to be, managed by workmen, and the men who make the boots will share in the profits earned by their labor. Lord Derby recently declared that if the lot of the working classes is to be permanently improved, it will be by means of co-operative production and distribution rather than by State aid and socialistic nostrums, and a good many hard-headed men agree with his Lordship.

TWO CELEBRATIONS TO-MORROW.

A Royal Silver Wedding and the Prince of Wales' Birthday.

(BY CABLE TO THE DISPATCH.) LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Emperor and Empress of Russia will celebrate their silver wedding at Livadia Monday morning. There will be an actual wedding in the palace chapel, and the Archbishop of Odessa will officiate, with all the pomp of the orthodox church. The same day the Prince of Wales will celebrate his 50th birthday, in homely fashion, at Sandringham, but not in the midst of his family, as originally planned, and announced. The Princess of Wales and her two unmarried daughters are at Livadia, and will figure on Monday in the Czar's glittering train of imperial and royal relatives. Old-fashioned folk think and say that the Princesses would be better employed warming their hands by the fire, and pouring out his tea, and drinking his health, and saying "God bless you," and that sort of thing, especially as, in the course of nature, the occasion will not occur again.

Not a Local Disease.

Because Catarrh affects your head, it is not therefore a local disease. If it did not exist in your blood, it could not manifest itself in your nose. The blood now in your brain is before you, and it is this blood, back in your heart and again distributed to your liver, stomach, kidneys, and so on. Whatever impurities the blood does not carry away cause what we call diseases. Therefore, when you have Catarrh a snuff or other inhalant can at most give only temporary relief. The only way to effect a cure is to attack the disease in the blood, by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which eliminates all impurities and thus permanently cures Catarrh. The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is proved by the fact that it is the only remedy which has been used for many years with the most successful results. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a blood purifier, and it is the only remedy which has been used for many years with the most successful results.
